The President elect of Panama, Gen. Santacaloma, arrived here from the interior on the 11th inst. and was duly inaugurated on the 13th inst. On the evening after the inauguration, a street row occurred between three of our citzens, in which firearms and swords were freely used, which for the time being, caused much alarm to some of the inhabitants, who, supposing the disturbance was, as a matter of course the breaking out of a new revolution on the strength of the inauguration of the morning, shut up their houses, and boiled and barred their doors and windows in great haste.

The Spanish squadron, consisting of the screw frigates Trimfo and Resolucion, forty guns each, and the screw schooner Virgen de Coradona, three guns, Admiral Penzon commanding (which has been in the Pacific for some time past) anchored at Taboga on the 13th instant. These vessels are on the way to the coast of Mexico and California. This is the first time the Spanish flag has appeared in these waters since the independence of the Isthmus was declared in 1821. It is said the officers will partake of a banquet in this city in the course of a few days.

The North Star, which arrived at Aspinwall on the 13th instant, from New-York, experienced a heavy gale. The ship was at one time in such great danger that it was found necessary to throw a portion of her cargo overboard. The mails brought by her reached this city in a sail condition—so thoroughly saturated with sait water that in many instances the directions were almost illegible—in some cases the wrappers of packages had fallen off, so it was impossible to tell who the parcels were for.
